DETAILED ACTION

The following communication is in response to Applicant's amendment filed on 17 May 2005 and remarks filed on 14 September 2004.

Status of Claims

Claims 1-2, 4-5, 7 & 10-13 are currently amended. Claims 6,9 & 14 are as originally submitted. Claims 3 & 8 are cancelled. Claims 15-20 are new, so Claims 1-2, 4-7 & 9-20 are, therefore, currently pending.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 14 September 2005 have been fully considered. The claims rejected under 35 U.S.C §112 have been corrected by applicant's amendments, and are therefore withdrawn. The claim rejected under 35 U.S.C §101 has been corrected by applicant's amendment, and is therefore withdrawn. Applicant's remarks with respect to the claims rejected under 35 U.S.C §102 are persuasive, and the rejections are withdrawn. However, new grounds for rejection are presented below so Applicant's request for allowance is respectfully denied.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The ambiguity raised by the claim is whether the method reflects that multiple parameters can be accepted, yet only one parameter is utilized at a time, or whether multiple parameters are used contemporaneously. The language is confusing, and appropriate correction is required. For examination purposes, the examiner treats the claim as disclosing the former.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1-2, 4-7 & 9-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Joao, et al, U.S. Patent #5878337, in further view of Camacho et al, U.S. Patent Application Publication #2003020684.

With regard to Claims 1,11,12,13 Camacho teaches the first limitation of the method, medium and computer program product and system comprising:

comparing an actual value (a) with a preset parameter, the preset parameter defined by the account holder; (Page 4, Para. 42).

Joao teaches the other two limitations of the method and medium comprising:

deriving the information (Z) in response to a transaction (n) that influences the actual value (a); and (Col. 5, lines 40-51) providing the information (Z) to the account holder through the device, the device associated with the account holder. (Col. 6, lines 4-32).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to combine the teachings of Joao, relating to transmitting transactional status and information, to an account holder for authentication, with the teachings of Camacho, relating to a method for comparing current transactional information with previously submitted rules at a central server. The motivation for such a combination is to take the benefit of Joao in getting prior authorization, but centralize the decision-making regarding parameter matching. This way decision about whether to authenticate a potential purchaser in a transaction can be made very quickly by the stronger computers in the central location, as opposed to a remote device. This system would be able to handle a large number of transaction requests than otherwise.

With regard to Claim 2, Joao teaches the method comprising:

transmitting the information (Z) via the network and receiving the information (Z) by the account holder via the device. (Col. 7, lines 14-29)

With regard to Claims 4,16,18 Joao teaches the method, medium and system wherein:

the preset parameter comprises a limit. (Col. 7, lines 49-64)

With regard to Claims 5,17,20 Joao teaches the method, medium and system wherein:

the preset parameter comprises a geographic region. (Col. 7, lines 49-64)

With regard to Claim 6, Joao teaches the method further comprising:

the step of setting different parameters. (Col. 7, lines 49-64)

With regard to Claim 7, Joao does not expressly teach the method wherein:

the step of receiving the information (Z) comprises rendering the information (Z), the rendering including confirming a personal identification number assigned to the account holder.

However, Camacho teaches this limitation at (Page 8, Para. 76). A pass-phrase or personal identification number is an obvious modification to Joao. The motivation for such a modification is add even further security to the system in the event that the device associated with the account holder is lost or stolen.

With regard to Claim 9, Joao does not expressly teach the method wherein:
the step of receiving the information (Z) comprises requesting a password.

However, Camacho teaches this limitation at (Page 8, Para. 76). A pass-phrase or personal identification number is an obvious modification to Joao. The motivation for such a modification is add even further security to the system in the event that the device associated with the account holder is lost or stolen.

With regard to Claim 10, Joao teaches the method wherein:
the step of transmitting the information (Z) via the network and receiving the information (Z) by account holder via the device comprises a wireless communication technique.
(Col. 4, line 62 – Col. 5, line 2)

With regard to Claim 14, Joao teaches the system wherein:
the device is a mobile device. (Col. 4, line 62 – Col. 5, line 2)

With regard to Claims 15,19 Joao teaches the method and system wherein the limit is a spending limit. (Col. 7, lines 49-64)
